

341st MUNITIONS SQUADRON

MISSION

The 341 Munitions Squadron generates combat-ready Minuteman III re-entry systems and conventional munitions in support of the missile wing's strategic deterrence and defense operations. They are responsible for both maintenance and accountability of the missile wing's $5.5 million conventional munitions and $3.8 billion nuclear weapon stockpiles. Additionally, the unit is directly responsible for critical maintenance in support of U.S. Strategic Command's alert and wartime commitments, to include presidential drawdown and dismantlement programs.

EMBLEM

On a disc Azure, a pile Argent, between two lightning bolts in chevron reversed Gules, in chief an olive branch fesswise tip to dexter Vert, in nombril an atomic symbol Azure and Gules, and in base a bomb Sable, flamed of the third, all within a narrow border Yellow. Attached below the disc, a Blue scroll edged with a narrow Yellow border and inscribed "341 MUNS" in Yellow letters. SIGNIFICANCE: Ultramarine blue and Air Force yellow are the Air Force colors. Blue alludes to the sky, the primary theater of Air Force operations. Yellow refers to the sun and the excellence required of Air Force personnel. The olive branch symbolizes the peace the unit strives to maintain through deterrence. The atomic symbol represents the warrior in the performance of the nuclear mission. The bomb represents the dangerous work unit personnel encounter with explosives. The lightning bolts separate opposing forces and represent the offensive nature of nuclear assurance.
