EMBLEM

Azure, in base a terrestrial demi-globe Celeste, landmasses Vert, above in chief an American bald eagle Volant Proper, grasping in its talons six lightning bolts radiating three to dexter and three to sinister Or; all within a diminished bordure of the last. Attached below the shield, a White scroll edged with a narrow Yellow border and inscribed "607TH SUPPORT GROUP" in Blue letters. SIGNIFICANCE: Ultramarine blue and Air Force yellow are the Air Force colors. Blue alludes to the sky, the primary theater of Air Force operations. Yellow refers to the sun and the excellence required of Air Force personnel. The American bald eagle symbolizes the United States Air Force and the protection it provides to global allies, which is a central part to world security. The three lightning bolts to the left symbolize communication, information, and management. The three to the right signify support, civil engineering, and the unit's ability to stand ready to defend the United States of America.

MOTTO

NICKNAME

OPERATIONS

1/31/2008 Osan Air Base Airmen began a new chapter for the primary combat air force provider to South Korea as the Pacific Air Forces commander uncased the 7th Air Force, Air Forces Korea flag Jan. 30 here. After assuming command, General Wood redesignated one group, inactivated two and activated another in an effort to consolidate and streamlined the organization to include an Air and Space Operations Center, an Air Force Forces staff, and a new support group. The changes include: Redesignation of the 607th Air Operations Group to the 607th Air and Space Operations Center. Inactivation of the 607th Combat Operations Squadron and the 607th Combat Plans Squadron. Stood up the 607th Support Group.
