

702 COMPUTER SYSTEMS SQUADRON

MISSION

The 702nd Computer Systems Squadron mission was to equip, administer, provide and train personnel to perform software support for the then NORAD Joint Surveillance System. As the U.S. Air Force element of the bi-national NORAD System Support Facility, the men and women of the 702nd CSS work hand-in-hand with their Canadian Forces Detachment counterparts to provide the NORAD operational community with the most up-to-date and reliable software possible.
