

30 COMPTROLLER SQUADRON

MISSION

The 30 Comptroller Squadron provides financial management support to all units on Vandenberg AFB. The squadron is composed of the Financial Analysis Flight and the Financial Services Flight.

Financial Analysis Flight works with other organizations and tenant units by providing budgetary services. These services include assisting managers in estimating financial needs for programs and translating those requirements into financial plans and operating budgets. This includes the cost validation of proposed alternatives to meet mission objectives. The flight ensures proposed actions do not exceed the installation's resource capability and adherence to proprietary use of appropriated funds. The flight also distributes budget authority to managers based on the approved financial plan, provide financial management training and help commanders administer all available appropriated funds

The Financial Services Flight handles military pay, civilian pay and travel reimbursements for all Department of Defense personnel assigned to units on Vandenberg AFB, as well as military retirees in the area. The Flight is divided into two functional areas: Customer Service (Military Pay issues) and Customer Support (Travel Pay, Disbursing, and DTS).
