

77th MEDICAL SQUADRON

MISSION

The 77th Medical Group is responsible for maintaining the health of nearly 65,000 people: 3,000 active duty members, 8,000 civilian employees, and over 51,000 beneficiaries in the area surrounding McClellan. Until recently, the MDG operated two locations at McClellan and at the Mather Hospital, treating over 140 inpatients and 15,000 outpatients per month. On July 1, 1998, however, the Mather Hospital was turned over to the Veterans Administration, and the MDG consolidated into the McClellan Clinic. Operating with an annual budget of nearly $18 million, the MDG also supports industrial wartime operations, blood transshipment and donor centers, and 224 mobility positions.
