OPERATIONS

15 Sep 62-The 9116th Air Force Reserve Recovery (AFRR) squadron relocated from Concord, NH., to Grenier AFB. During period 13 recovery missions flown for training of these squadrons. In the event of war, these units were tasked with aircraft and flight crew decontamination, medical assistance, aircraft refueling and minor maintenance, security of assets, communication service, and weather data support for combat aircraft that had flown to dispersal airports within the Continental United States (CONUS).

31 Mar 65-USAF decision to inactivate 43 AFR Recovery groups with 112 Recovery Squadrons caused many of the 50 members of the 9116th ARRS at Grenier AFB to be reassigned to units within the 902nd TCG.
